

A close-up photograph of a young child with dark, curly hair, smiling broadly. The child is holding a large bunch of autumn leaves in shades of orange, yellow, and red. The background is softly blurred, showing more of the leaves and the child's white clothing.

*One hundred
years from now ...*

*it will not matter what my bank account was,
the sort of house I lived in or the kind of car I drove,*

*but the world
may be different
because I was
important
in the life of a child.*